

The matlab implementation of training/testing the classifying algorithm described in the paper “A new approach to image classification by convolutional neural network” and a conventional CNN is given separately in the two folders.